

Dear parents and caregivers,

[insert school name] will soon be delivering a series of lessons, called eSafety for Kids, to our students in Grades 5 and 6.

The eSafety for Kids lessons will teach students to be assertive when it comes to their online safety. They are designed by Cool Australia, a not-for-profit organisation that uses contemporary approaches to create engaging units of work that are meaningful to Australian students and have been reviewed by a child and adolescent psychologist. You can learn more about the lessons here.

The lessons are designed in such a way that they empower students rather than instilling fear, letting them know that, as adults, we aren't going to interfere in their lives for the sake of it; we just want to make sure that they know what to look out for online and have the tools to keep themselves safe.

To make the activities relevant and useful, sensitive topics are introduced throughout the lessons. To ensure that you are familiar with the terms and concepts that your child will be learning about, we will be running an information session that we would like you to attend. This session will be led by [insert name and position here] and includes a short presentation that outlines the intention and need for these lessons, describes the content of each lesson, introduces key terms, and shares some of the resources that will be used. It will also explain your part in this unit of work, and show you where you can find everything you need to ensure your child gets the most from this opportunity.
