

Narrative Mapping: Like My Brother

Narrative Mapping Definitions

Exposition

Where the narrative begins - the 'normal environment'.

Conflict

The problem or obstacle faced by the character/s, what drives the narrative forward.

Rising action

A series of events that build the tension and challenge the character/s, creating momentum.

Climax

The turning point for the story, usually a moment of tension and excitement. There can be a few climaxes across a story.

Falling action

Where the consequences of the climax play out, a time for reflection and understanding and an adjustment to a 'new normal'.

Resolution

Where the story comes to a and end and character arcs are concluded.

